UsagePoint for SharePoint

Know which Copilot seats are used before you renew.

UsagePoint shows which Microsoft 365 Copilot seats are in use, prices idle seats in pounds at the price you pay, and lets you nudge, reclaim or reassign them with approval, inside your own tenant.

WHAT IT IS

UsagePoint is a renewal decision tool for Microsoft 365 Copilot. It is a SharePoint web part that gives IT and finance the same evidence for every renewal: who uses Copilot, what idle seats cost at the price you actually pay, and how many seats to keep. Reclaim is never automatic: every action waits for approval. Usage data never leaves your tenant, and it never reads prompts or answers.

KEY FEATURES

Everything you get

Do this next
Home lists what to do next, most valuable first, with the money at your price.

Seats priced at your rate
Idle seats, disabled accounts still holding a seat, seats with Copilot switched off and people without an Exchange Online mailbox, priced at what you pay.

Nudge, reclaim, reassign
Every action waits in a queue for approval; a reclaim gives 14 days' notice with a "still need it" reply, and a licence admin approves before your own flow frees the seat.

A renewal plan
The seat count to keep, the yearly difference at your price and the date you can reduce by, with chargeback by cost centre or department.

Adoption by department
Use by department and app over 28 days, with groups under 10 Copilot users combined and history kept beyond Microsoft's 180 days.

A summary for finance
A one-page summary to print or save as PDF, with no names, plus CSV exports of the renewal plan and chargeback.

Listed on Microsoft Marketplace. Not affiliated with or endorsed by Microsoft.
